ABOUT MCKENZIE COUNTY

McKenzie County is the largest county in North Dakota. Covering over 2,700 square miles, it is home to 5,617 rural residents. Watford City is the County Seat of McKenzie County and the largest city. Located in the heart of the Williston Basin, the community enjoys a diversified economy in a small town setting. Agriculture, oil extraction, financial services, software support and tourism industries provide the foundation of the economic base here. Watford City has been nationally recognized for its quality living, clean environment, stable work force and outstanding education and is a destination for vacation fun. Hometown pride and visionary spirit drive the residents of this progressive ranching community. Surrounded by Lake Sakakawea, the Little Missouri National Grasslands, Theodore Roosevelt National Park, the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation, and the Yellowstone River, Watford City serves as a connection to area attractions such as the Theodore Roosevelt National Park-North Unit, the Maah-Daah-Hey Trail and the Lewis & Clark Trail.

Watford City is experiencing a thriving economy and many residents are drawn to this area for its career opportunities and high quality of living. Residents enjoy an indoor pool as well as the newly constructed outdoor Wild West Water Park, a municipal golf course, which features a new clubhouse and lounge, hospital, clinic, health club, museums, and many new business and shopping opportunities thrive along the newly renovated Main Street. An outdoor performing arts stage, nature park, cement walk-bike path surrounds the city and provides residents and visitors with safe and beautiful ways to live in, explore and enjoy the community.

Within a 60 mile radius of Watford City visitors and residents can experience trail riding, cycling, canoeing, fishing, or hunting. Wildlife viewing, photography and camping opportunities abound as well as educational tours on historical, cultural and natural resource preservation. Legendary hospitality flourishes through the amenities in the gateway communities of Watford City, Alexander, Arnegard and Grassy Butte.
